Words of Encouragement

August 3, 2025

Is Your Faith in God or Something Else?

In our daily lives, we all place our faith in something. Much of the time, we do this without thinking. We trust machines to function; we trust systems to work; we have faith that people will keep their word. However, we quickly realize all these things fail our trust at one point or another.

The Bible asks us a fundamental question: where do you place your faith? One day, our lives will be judged on this point, and we can't have blindly trusted something or someone and expect to have an excuse on judgement day. Today, we should consciously and willingly examine our hearts and ask ourselves:

Is our faith in God or something else?

What Is Faith? Thankfully, the Bible contains a clear definition of faith in Hebrews 11:1: "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen."

To have faith in God alone means we trust Him with everything — we place our full confidence in who God is, what He's done, and what he will do.

*“God has a plan for our lives, and surrendering to Him means we set aside
our own plans and eagerly seek his.”*

To believe Him means we don't look for backup plans. He alone is enough. We surrender fully to His will, ways, and timing, and allow ourselves to be transformed by the truth of God's Word.

Faith in God doesn't mean we won't have difficulties. In some ways, we encounter greater struggles because we trust in the unseen while living in a world we see. We may feel or say we trust God, but that's easy to say when things go well. God, in his love, shakes what can be shaken to call us to rely on what cannot be shaken. We strengthen our faith when we choose to continue trusting God during times of struggles.

God loves us too much to allow His children to live and trust in things that fail. Placing faith in God isn't a one-time act but a way of life. The more we listen (faith comes by hearing) and submit, the more we grow. Through our trust in God alone, we grow our faith to have the best of this life and the next.
