Words of Encouragement

April 12, 2026

Question: Can living a life of thanksgiving and expressing gratitude for the things in your life, change the direction of your life?

Things like unpaid bills, unresolved conflicts, and unanswered prayers make it so easy to focus on the things we don't have, thus failing to see the good things, and to thank God for what we do have. There are a few things we can (and must) thank God for, and it will change our perspective and ultimately change our heart and life for the better.

"Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and comes down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow of turning."(James 1:17).

I love the way James gives us a reminder that every good gift is from God. Sometimes we like to take credit for the good things in our lives. But all the good is of God. He is the creator and sustainer of anything good. So make it a point to thank God for the good things in your life today (and every day).

"God has a plan for our lives, and surrendering to Him means we set aside our own plans and eagerly seek his."

"Now we know that God does not hear sinners; but if anyone is a worshiper of God and does His will, He hears him."

(John 9:31)

Prayer is one of those things we know we should do, but we rarely do enough. While I often remember to thank God for the food I eat and the people in my life, I rarely take time to thank God for allowing me to speak to Him as His child, or to come to Him as forgiven. Let us give thanks with humble hearts for God making a way for us to be able to talk to Him anytime, anywhere. Years ago, I started a daily practice of praying before I get out of bed in the morning. As soon as I am awake, I thank the Lord for the air I am breathing and a new day to be alive, and I also acknowledge that the life I live, is from God. Life might not be perfect, but we always want to thank Father God for another day of it.
