Words of Encouragement

May 24, 2026

“In a flash, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised imperishable, and we will be changed.”
(1 Corinthians 15:52)

There is a moment coming. A final trumpet. A transformation so complete and so swift that it will happen in the blink of an eye. All believers (those dead and those living), will receive an incorruptible body that is suitable for existence in God’s eternal realm. The same power that will one day raise the dead and transform your body is already at work in you. It is making you more like Christ. It is teaching you to live in holiness, because you belong to the One who is coming back.

This is a verse about hope breaking through. You may be in a season where breakthrough feels distant. You have waited, worked, repented, believed. And still, the change you long for has not come. But Paul reminds us that breakthrough is not just about relief from our current struggle. You must embrace an eternal perspective that God has already secured your future. God’s ultimate breakthrough is a fixed point in His plan, as sure as the cross and the empty tomb.

“God has a plan for our lives, and surrendering to Him means we set aside our own plans and eagerly seek his.”

This verse is asking us to live with certainty and faith. The trumpet will sound. That is certain. And when it does, there will be no time to prepare. The preparation happens now. The turning happens today. The choosing to live in light of Christ’s return happens in the small, steady decisions of an ordinary life.

Although the weight of life’s burdens feels heavy, remember the trumpet. It has not sounded yet, but it will. And when it does, everything that felt heavy, broken, or incomplete will be made whole in an instant. Until then, you prepare. You repent. You hope. You live as someone who knows the end of their story!

“I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am you may be also.” (John 14:3)
